

You don't have to take
a fare hike sitting down.

Particularly when you can't find a seat.

Making New Yorkers pay more is just unfair.

Subway and buses are jam-packed. But soon you may be paying $2 for a subway or bus ride. Or $6 more for a seven-day MetroCard.

That's unfair. City subways and buses move 84 percent of the riders in New York State, but we only get 63 percent of the state transit aid—costing us $325 million a year.

What can you do? Contact the state and city leaders below. Tell them you don't want to pay higher fares for more crowded service.

And visit www.straphangers.org. We'll help you fight a fare increase and demand better service—so maybe you could even get a seat.

Call Today!

Governor George Pataki

(212) 681-4580

State Comptroller Carl McCall

(212) 681-4489

Mayor Michael Bloomberg

(212) 788-3000 and (212) 788-9600

Your voice can make a difference.

Need more information? Contact:

www.straphangers.org

NYPIRG's Straphangers Campaign

(212) 349-6460